

2014-15 Six Months after Graduation Report

INTRODUCTION

The 2014-15 Six Months after Graduation Survey investigates employment and educational outcomes for students who graduated in academic year 2014-15.

METHODOLOGY

The 2014-15 Six-Months after Graduation Survey includes aggregate data collected from August 2014, December 2014, and May 2015 graduates in three separate surveys each administered six months after each respective graduation. The surveys were administered online and alumni were contacted primarily via their personal email accounts. Data was augmented with information gathered from our Senior Exit survey, as well as, information on LinkedIn. The data in this report is based on a significant 58% of the 2014-15 graduates. The distribution of degrees awarded among survey respondents was similar to the actual distribution of 2014-15 graduates.

KEY FINDINGS

Occupational Outcomes

Baccalaureate degree recipients

- 91% of the baccalaureate degree recipients reported being employed by a company, self-employed, or holding an internship. Of those who are employed, 83% are employed full-time, 15% part-time, and 2% hold an internship (paid or unpaid).
 - 74% of those respondents who are employed are working at a job that is closely related (51%) or somewhat related (23%) to the degree they earned at FSC.
- 49% of baccalaureate degree graduates who are employed secured their jobs prior to graduation from Farmingdale State College and 51% secured their jobs within six months after graduation.
 - Among those baccalaureate degree recipients whose positions are related to their degree, 47% secured their jobs prior to graduation. These graduates consisted primarily of nursing degree recipients. The remaining 53% secured their jobs within six months following graduation.
- 19% of 2014-15 baccalaureate respondents who are employed reported salaries of at least $60,000 (largely attributed to nursing graduate salaries). 48% reported salaries of $40,000 or more.
- 78% of the employed baccalaureate degree recipients were either very satisfied (36%) or satisfied (42%) with their current jobs in general.
- More than half (59%) of the employed graduates feel Farmingdale has prepared them extremely well (23%) or very well (36%) for their current position.
 - The percentage of baccalaureate degree recipients who feel FSC has prepared them extremely well or very well for their current positions goes up to 69% among those working in a job related to their major.

KEY FINDINGS

Occupational Outcomes

Associate degree recipients

- 82% of Farmingdale State College 2014-15 associate degree reported being employed by a company, self-employed, or holding an internship. Of those who are employed, 48% are employed full-time, 51% part-time, and 1% hold an internship (paid or unpaid).
 - 52% of associate degree recipients who are employed are working at a job that is closely related (38%) or somewhat related (14%) to the degree they earned at FSC.
- 57% of associate degree graduates who are employed secured their jobs up to six months prior to graduation from Farmingdale State College, while the remaining 43% got their jobs within six months after graduation.
 - Among those whose positions are related to their degree, 37% secured their jobs prior to graduation. These graduates consisted primarily of Dental Hygiene and Nursing degree recipients. The remaining 63% secured their jobs within six months following graduation.
- 9% of 2014-15 associate degree respondents who are employed reported salaries of at least $60,000 (mainly attributed to nursing and dental hygiene graduate salaries). 23% reported salaries of $40,000 or more.
- 67% of the associate degree recipients who are employed are either very satisfied (27%) or satisfied (40%) with their current jobs in general.
- Forty-four percent of the employed associate degree recipients feel Farmingdale has prepared them extremely well (17%) or very well (27%) for their current position.
 - The percentage of associate degree recipients who feel FSC has prepared them extremely well or very well for their current positions goes up to 57% among those working in a job related to their major.
