METHODOLOGY

The 2018-19 Six Months after Graduation Report includes aggregate data collected from August 2018, December 2018, and May 2019 graduates in separate surveys administered six months after each graduation. Employment and education outcomes were supplemented with information collected through our graduating seniors exit survey, review of LinkedIn profiles, information submitted by Farmingdale State College faculty and staff, follow-up phone calls by Institutional Research staff, and subsequent enrollment confirmed through the National Student Clearinghouse. Taken together, the employment and education information obtained from these sources comprise our “knowledge rate”. Hereafter, “respondents” refers to graduates for whom we have knowledge of post-graduation activities. Our knowledge rate for graduates who were awarded associate, baccalaureate or master degrees during the 2018-19 academic year is a significant 33% (Figure 1) and the degree distribution among respondents follows a similar distribution to actual degrees awarded (Figure 2).

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

EMPLOYMENT STATUS

Baccalaureate Degree Graduates

- 92% of respondents are working and/or continuing their education. Most (89%) are solely working (54%), or working while continuing their education (35%). Four percent are concentrating only on their education.
- 90% are employed by a company, self-employed, serving in the military, or completing an internship.
  - Of those who are employed, 76% are employed full-time, 16% are employed part-time, and 9% are employed in contract or freelance work, self-employed, in the military or doing an internship.
  - 81% of employed respondents are working in a job related to their degree.
- 21% of employed respondents reported salaries of at least $60,000 (largely attributed to Nursing alumni). 40% reported salaries of $40,000 or more.

- The percentage of graduates employed increased from the prior graduating class, as did percentage salaries over $40K, and the percentage employed in a job related to their degree.
- Almost three-quarter (74%) of employed respondents are very satisfied (34%) or satisfied (40%) with preparation for employment that they received at Farmingdale State College.
  - The percentage of satisfied graduates has steadily increased from 53% among 2015-16 graduates to 74% among 2018-19 graduates.
  - The percentage of satisfied respondents increases to 84% among survey respondents working in a job related to their degree.

Associates Degree Graduates

- Almost all of the of respondents are working and/or continuing their education. 88% are just working or working while continuing their education, while ten percent are solely attending school.
- 88% are employed by a company, self-employed, or completing an internship.
  - Of those who are employed, 31% are employed full-time, 56% are employed part-time, 14% are employed in contract or freelance work, self-employed, in the military or doing an internship
  - 47% of employed respondents are working in a job related to their degree.
- 58% of employed respondents are either very satisfied (21%) or satisfied (37%) with their preparation for employment from Farmingdale State College.
  - This percentage increased to 69% among survey respondents working in a job related to their degree.

Masters Degree Graduates

This report includes responses from the first graduating class of FSC's new masters degree program in Technology Management. There were 14 actual graduates, and 6 responded to the survey.

- The respondents are all working full-time in positions that are closely related to their degree. Two of the six respondents began their current position after earning their MS degree at FSC, and the other four had their current position prior to earning their MS degree.

EMPLOYMENT LOCATION (ALL RESPONDENTS)

- 95% of employed graduates are employed in the New York City metropolitan area, with the majority (75%) working on Long Island.

INTERNSHIPS (BACCALAUREATE GRADUATES ONLY)

- More than one-half (54%) of respondents reported doing an internship while a student at Farmingdale State College.
- 33% of respondents who did an internship got their internship either through a Farmingdale State College academic department, Farmingdale State College's Nexus Center, or through staff members at Farmingdale State College.
- 49% of respondents who did an internship were offered a permanent position at the company where they did an internship.

CONTINUING EDUCATION

Baccalaureate Degree Graduates

- More than one-third (39%) of baccalaureate graduates are continuing or plan to continue their education in another formal degree program.
- Of those with specific plans, most (74%) are pursuing an MBA or other masters degree. The majority (58%) are studying full time.
- Stony Brook is the institution most frequently identified as the institution where baccalaureate graduates are continuing their education.

Associates Degree Graduates

- Most (82%) of associates degree recipients are continuing their studies in another formal degree program.
- Of those who disclosed specific plans, all are pursuing a baccalaureate degree, and most (73%) are studying full time.
- Farmingdale is the institution most frequently identified as the institution where associate graduates are continuing their education.

Masters Degree Graduates

- Two of the six respondents plan to continue their education part-time. One in a related Ph.D. program and the other in a Certificate program in Computer Science.

LIVING AND WORKING ON LONG ISLAND (ALL GRADUATES)

- One-half of respondents (50%) reported that Long Island salaries in their fields are competitive with or better than in other regions; less than one-third (32%) were not sure.
- Nearly one-half of respondents (49%) indicated that Long Island businesses are adjusting to industry trends, but many (35%) were unsure about this.
- The majority of respondents (58%) plan to remain on Long Island or in the New York metro area.
  - The percentage of 2018-19 graduate who do not plan to remain in the area is up compared to the prior graduating class (13% vs. 9%).
  - Those who don't plan to remain cited the cost of housing/living and taxes as the top two reasons for leaving.
- 44% of respondents live in Suffolk County; 40% live in Nassau County. Two-thirds (66%) of respondents live with their parents.
- The majority (64%) of respondents think Long Island is a good place to raise a family. However, this percentage is down 7 ppt. from the prior graduating class.
  - Among those who don't think that Long Island is a good place to raise a family, the cost of housing/living (96%) and taxes (78%) were cited most often. More than one-half also cited traffic (61%) and overpopulation (58%).

KEY FINDINGS

DEGREES EARNED

Baccalaureate Degree Graduates

Respondents received degrees in majors from the School of Arts and Sciences (29%), School of Business (39%), School of Engineering Technology (25%), and School of Health Sciences (7%), which is similar to the actual degree distribution (Figure 3). See Appendix A: Table A1 for knowledge rates by major for baccalaureate degree recipients.

Associate Degree Graduates

Respondents received degrees from the School of Arts and Sciences (73%), School of Business (2%), School of Engineering Technology (2%), and School of Health Sciences (22%), which is similar to the actual degree distribution (Figure 4). See Appendix A: Table A2 for knowledge rates by major for associate degree recipients.

Master Degree Graduates

There were 14 actual graduates in Farmingdale’s first graduating class from the Master Degree program in Technology Management in the School of Engineering Technology. Six graduates (43% of actual graduates) responded to the survey. See Appendix A: Table A3 for knowledge rates.

EMPLOYMENT STATUS AND EMPLOYMENT RELATION TO MAJOR

Baccalaureate Degree Graduates

The majority (90%) of respondents are employed by a company, self-employed, serving in the military, or completing an internship at the six-months-out point after graduation. 9% are unemployed and looking for work and 1% were unemployed but not seeking employment (Figure 5). See Appendix B: Table B1 for a list of reported job titles and employers by major.

Most (81%) of employed respondents are working at a job that is closely related (45%) or somewhat related (36%) to the degree they earned at Farmingdale State College (Figure 6).

Associates Degree Graduates

88% of respondents are employed by a company, self-employed, completing an internship, or in the military at the six-months-out point after graduation. 10% are unemployed and looking for work, and 2% were not looking for work (Figure 7). See Appendix B: Table B2 for a list of reported job titles and employers by major.

Close to one-half (47%) of employed respondents are working at a job that is closely related (37%) or somewhat related (10%) to the degree they earned at Farmingdale State College (Figure 8).

Masters Degree Graduates

All of the respondents are working full-time in a job closely related to their degree. See Appendix B: Table B3 for a list of reported job titles and employers.

WHEN EMPLOYMENT WAS SECURED

More than one-half (56%) of employed baccalaureate degree graduates secured their job prior to graduation from Farmingdale State College. Similarly, 55% of employed associate degree recipients secured their job prior to graduation, and four of the six respondents (67%) who received a masters degree secured their job prior to graduation.

ANNUAL SALARY RANGE (BACCALAUREATE GRADUATES)

Twenty-one percent of employed baccalaureate degree graduates reported salaries of at least $60,000, attributable mainly to Nursing graduates. 40% of employed respondents reported salaries of $40,000 or more, and 30% reported salaries between $20,000 and $39,999. Two percent reported salaries below $20,000, while 27% preferred not to disclose their salaries (Figure 10).

PREPAREDNESS FOR EMPLOYMENT (BACCALAUREATE GRADUATES)

Just under three-quarters (74%) of employed respondents are very satisfied (34%) or satisfied (40%) with their preparation for employment by Farmingdale State College (Figure 11).

Among respondents working in a job related to their major, 84% of baccalaureate degree recipients were very satisfied (41%) or satisfied (43%) with their preparation at Farmingdale State College for professional employment.

EMPLOYMENT TRENDS

(BACCALAUREATE GRADUATES)

The percentage of graduates employed increased from the prior graduating class, as did percentage salaries over $40K, and the percentage employed in a job related to their degree.

While the employment outcomes have oscillated within a certain range for the past five years, there is one clear trend. The percentage of graduates that have been satisfied with their preparation for employment by Farmingdale State College has steadily increased from 53% among 2015-16 graduates to 74% among 2018-19 graduates.

Outcomes six months after graduation	Academic Year of Graduation
	2014-15	2015-16	2016-17	2017-18	2018-19

% of actual baccalaureate graduates	45%	39%	29%	24%	35%

LOCATION OF EMPLOYMENT (ALL GRADUATES)

Of employed graduates who provided employment location information, 96% are working in New York State, 95% in the New York City metropolitan area, and 75% on Long Island.

INTERNSHIPS (BACCALAUREATE GRADUATES)

The majority (54%) of baccalaureate graduates reported having completed an internship while a student at Farmingdale State College. One-third (33%) of respondents who completed an internship got their internship either through a Farmingdale State College academic department, through Farmingdale State College’s Nexus Center, or through staff members at Farmingdale State College. Approximately one-half (49%) of respondents who did an internship were offered a permanent position at the company where they completed an internship.

Baccalaureate Degree Graduates

Thirty-nine percent (39%) of respondents are continuing or plan to continue their education. The most frequently identified institution where these respondents are continuing their education is Stony Brook University. For a list of institutions where graduates are pursuing additional education, see Appendix C: Table C1.

Associates Degree Graduates

Most (82%) associates degree recipients are continuing or plan to continue their education. The most frequently identified institution where these respondents are continuing their education is Farmingdale State College. For a list of institutions where graduates are pursuing additional education, see Appendix C: Table C2.

Masters Degree Graduates

Two of the six masters degree respondents plan to continue their education. One is planning to pursue a Ph.D. in a related field and the other is planning to pursue a Certificate in Computer Science. The institutions where they plan to study were not disclosed.

SUBSEQUENT DEGREE

Baccalaureate Degree Graduates

Among respondents who are continuing their education, most (74%) are pursuing an MBA (15%) or other masters degree (59%) (figure 13). Six percent are pursuing a professional degree in a medical field, and 4% are pursuing another baccalaureate degree (mainly Nursing). For a list of degrees and programs respondents are pursuing, see Appendix D: Table D1.

Associate Degree Graduates

All Associate degree graduates who are continuing their education are pursuing a baccalaureate degree. For a list of programs respondents are pursuing, see Appendix D: Table D2.

Master Degree Graduates

Two of the six respondents who are continuing their education are pursuing a Ph.D. in Engineering and a Certificate in Computer Science.

FULL OR PART TIME STUDY

Baccalaureate Degree Graduates

Among respondents continuing their education, the majority (58%) of those who provided detailed information are studying full time (Figure 14).

Associates Degree Graduates

Among respondents continuing their education, all are pursuing a baccalaureate degree and almost three-quarters (73%) of those who provided detailed information are studying full time (Figure 14).

Masters Degree Graduates

The two masters degree graduates who plan to continue their education will do so on a part time basis.

LIVING AND WORKING ON LONG ISLAND (ALL RESPONDENTS)

Similar to the prior graduating class, one-half (50%) of 2018-19 graduates feel that Long Island salaries in their fields are competitive with or better than salaries in other regions although less feel that it is better than other regions (18% vs. 21%). Almost than one-third (32%) expressed uncertainty about how salaries on Long Island compare to other regions (see Figure 12).

Similar to the prior graduating class, nearly one-half (49%) of 2018-19 graduates believe that businesses on Long Island are adjusting to industry trends. More graduates than the prior year (16% vs 10%) do not believe that businesses are adjusting to industry trends, but many respondents (35%) were not sure (see Figure 13).

Similar to the prior graduating class, most 2018-19 graduates (58%) will continue to pursue their careers on Long Island or within the New York metro area (Figure 14). A higher percentage of 2018-19 graduates than 2017-18 graduates (13% vs. 9%) indicated that they do not expect to stay in the area.

Among those who indicated that they do not expect to remain in the area, the most commonly cited reason was the cost of housing/living (85%), followed by taxes (Figure 15).

The majority (84%) of 2018-19 graduates live in either Nassau (40%) or Suffolk (44%) counties; down from the 87% of prior year graduates who live on Long Island. An additional 9% reside in New York City or elsewhere in New York State (Figure).

Two-thirds of 2018-19 graduates (66%) live with their parent(s); up from 63% with the prior graduating class. Living with roommates other than spouses or partners was the least common response (4%) (Figure 20).

Sixty-four percent (64%) of 2018-19 graduates think that Long Island is a good place to raise a family; down from 71% with the prior graduating class. Conversely, the percentage of 2018-19 graduates who think that Long Island is not a good place to raise a family (20%) is up from 16% with the prior graduating class (figure 21).

Similar to the prior years' graduates who don't think that Long Island is a good place to raise a family, the top two reasons cited by 2018-19 graduates are the cost of housing/living (96%), and taxes (78%), although a much lesser percentage cited taxes as a reason (78% vs. 88%). More than one-half also identified traffic (61%) and overpopulation (58%) as reasons why Long Island is not a good place to raise a family.
